INPECTAL TO THE EVENING WORLD. BRIGHTON BRACH MACE TRACE, Aug. 17 .- The excellent card offered by the Brighton Beach Racing Association had the effect of drawing out a very large crowd this after poon. The weather was warm. The track was hard and fast.

Mary Stone was witndrawn from the fourth race at six and a half furlongs early in the afternoon, leaving the race virtually be-tween Chesapeake and Lizzie.

The fifth race, at a mile, is the chief event, having among its entries such good ones as Lord Dalmeny, Jack Rose, Foxford, Fagot and India Rubber.

The first race, at five furlongs, selling, had fourteen starters, of which Jimmy McCormick's good filly Zenobia was a 5 to 2 on iavorite, and at that price she was eagerly played by McCormick's friends. After a long delay at the post, caused by Adventurer's bad acting, they were sent away, with the bad acting, they were sent away, with the invorite in front, and she was nover headed, winning easily by a length. Inliah beat Luray three lengths for the place.

Margaerite was a hot favorite in the second race arilve furiongs for two-year-olds. Philanthropist and Lyrist also had a big following. There was another long delay at the post in this race. They finally got away with Lyrist in front, but the invorite soon took the lead and won easily by a length. Philanthropist was second, three lengths before Mullet.

A lofty scaffolding, covering the front of the new building at 386 Sixth avenue, near the corner of Twenty-fourth street, feil just startled the entire neighborhood.

Two workings who were engaged on the top stage of the scaffold building the cornice were dashed down fifty feet into the open cellarway and half buried beneath a muss of planks and masonry, for the fall of the struc-ture dragged down part of the wall with it. A woman who was passing on the sidewalk was struck by a flying brick and fainted

In a moment the whole neighborhood was aroused and a crowd collected about the scene of the ruins, which covered the entire sidewalk in front of the building.

Policeman Kent, of the Thirtleth stree station, who was on duty at Twenty-third street, ran to the nearest box and sent on several other officers, went to the assistance

It was reported at first that half a dozen nen were buried beneath the ruins. It turned out that there were only two at work on the scaffold at the time. They were soon brought out from under the loose planking, both unconscious. The crowd believed them to be dead. They were both bleeding from many wounds and were covered with bruises. Two ambulances were on hand and both mer were taken to the New York Hospital.

They were Thomas Couway, forty-one years old, of 221 East One Hundred and First street, and William H. Howe, thirty-two years old, of Manhattan avenue and Eightysixth street, both bricklayers. Rowe was suffering from a fracture of the left leg and concussion of the brain.
